Could there be more?

The City of Los Angeles is full of many wonderful historic and cultural landmarks. Your own home might be one of them! Only a small portion of these landmarks have been documented.

SurveyLA is a new program established by the City of Los Angeles to document all our landmarks before they are destroyed by uncaring developers or just crumble away from neglect.

A member from SurveyLA will educate us about this new program. We will view an award-winning 26 minute video about the program. Then, our speaker will explain the process of determining if a structure or location merits the "Historic and Cultural Landmark" designation.

It is up to us to educate ourselves about our past and to document these treasured places for future generations.
